Motivation Letter

Dear Hiring Manager,

As a full stack product engineer, I combine hands-on business operations experience (logistics, hospitality) with modern software development expertise — enterprise SaaS, ERP and accounting platforms, marketplaces and e-commerce systems.

That hybrid background has taught me to build software that holds up under real use, not just a clean demo — an instinct that's rare among engineers with a purely technical background.

Fluent in English and French, available remotely or with relocation, I'm open to full-time roles, contract engagements and project-based collaboration internationally.

I'd welcome the chance to discuss how this background could contribute to your team.

Best regards,
